Overseas Visitors Patient Information Leaflet

Not everyone is entitled to free NHS hospital treatment in England

We have a legal obligation under the NHS (Charges to Overseas Visitors) Regulations 2015 to identify patients who are required to pay for NHS hospital services they receive because they are not ordinarily resident or exempt of charges in the UK.

Whether a person is ordinarily resident in the UK is essentially assessing whether that individual:

- Is lawfully in the UK;
- Is here voluntarily – it will be rare for a person not to be in the UK voluntarily; and
- Is properly settled here for the time being; and
- In the case of non-EEA nationals' subject to immigration control, has Indefinite Leave to Remain (ILR) in the UK.

A person is not ordinarily resident in the UK simply because he/she:

- Has British nationality or holds a British passport;
- Is registered with a GP;
- Has an NHS number;
- Owns property in the UK;
- Has paid (or are currently paying) National Insurance contributions and taxes in the UK.

If a person is found to not be ordinarily resident, circumstances of the individual will require investigation to determine if any of the exemptions in the above regulations applies. Please speak to the Overseas Visitor Manager for more details (see reverse).
